School Learning Plan

October 2024/25

THE CURRENT CONTEXT

Summary of the data gathering sections of the planning template. You can also add details about specific equity issues you have noted and would like to address.

Fraser River Middle School's doors opened in September 2016. We have grown rapidly and currently have a student population of 700 students between grades 6 and 8. Our school community has a wide range of cultural backgrounds and welcomes students from all over the world and those Indigenous to Canada. For the first two years of FRMS, we focused our attention on building community. We decided in year three to continue with building community but to make our goal focused on integrated curricular areas. We continued with this goal for a period of four years. We believe that all students must feel safe and connected to make learning possible. All our students are learners and participants in this process. Equity, diversity, inclusion, and social-emotional learning are embedded into our work around our School Goals.

A consultation was conducted with Staff in the spring of 2022 to determine what direction we should go with our School Learning plan. Staff identified the areas of Self-Regulation, Ownership, and Resilience as areas where they wanted to explore as a Staff with our students. We will use the Spiral of Inquiry Framework (<https://shorturl.at/cwK06>) to help us explore these areas and answer three key questions: What is going on for our learners? How do we know? and Why does it matter? Through discussion, the staff felt that with the change in administration we would like to carry on with the previous goal for one final year.

OBJECTIVE: WHAT WE HOPE TO ACHIEVE

This is the big overall goal/objective (must be measurable)

Our goal is to create a reflective and inclusive environment that celebrates diversity, fosters resilience and self-regulation, and recognizes individual strengths within our community of learners. Within this goal we wish to focus on developing:

- Identity as a learner
- Identity as a classroom community
- Identity as a school community

- Students will self-reflect their progress in relation to the core competencies on the formal report cards.
- Students will improve literacy and numeracy skills
- All students will be able to access classroom learning and the Middle School experience through adaptations and team teaching
