CP4YC

Changing Possibilities for Young Children is a collaborative inquiry project that unites Early Childhood Educators and Kindergarten teachers. Our district has participated in CP4YC for many years, and this May will mark our final session. We want to honor all the educators who have been part of this project over the years and celebrate their dedication. As we close this chapter, we look forward to new initiatives that will continue to support young learners. Our CP4YC work was guided by the goal of creating meaningful possibilities for every child, knowing that each change touches all children.

This initiative has emphasized social-emotional learning and supported children with space and grace. Through play, we create opportunities for children to build relationships, show empathy, express joy and happiness, foster a sense of belonging, and advocate for their own needs and voices.
